FLY MURCIELAGO

100 feet of extravagance; the Murcielago is your private Lear jet of the sea. A superyacht with such comfort and speed, you (and up to 7 guests) can experience more in your precious time off than you ever thought possible. This digital brochure is a taste of what Murcielago has to offer.

LUXURY

Whichever idyllic destinations you decide to experience, five-star luxury will share the journey.

From the sumptuous owner and VIP staterooms with en suites, to two twin-berth cabins, this superyacht can sleep eight as comfortably as any hotel.

Indoor areas include spacious saloons, lounges and decks, the aft one with a retractable sunroof, BBQ and seating for up to ten people.

There's a fully equipped galley with oak flooring, stunning granite bench tops and naturally, its own espresso machine.

Meals can be prepared by our own on-board chef with full catering, including a drinks bar stocked with everything you could ever desire.

Drawing you outside, are massive sunbeds and a bathing platform, which turns every sea into your own private pool.

The platform also has a hot shower and a wet bar, so the refreshment lasts longer than your swim, snorkel or paddle (in one of three canoes).

The Murcielago is equipped both inside and out with an incredible array of personal and big screen entertainment. This includes the brilliant Sonos surround sound system, which enables you to control your music from your phone.

This kind of individual comfort extends to separate heating/cooling zones so you can customise your own environment.

Just one of the many reasons Murcielago is such a great way to fly.

THE LUXURY OF CHOICE

The selection of anchorages throughout the Caribbean, Med and Pacific is astounding. From rocky atolls to sandy cays to thriving ports, you can call anywhere home.

LUXURY

THE VIEW CHANGES HOURLY

Imagine your own café, restaurant and bar, where you choose your own guests and music, and the view changes at your very whim. It's called Murcielago.

FIVE STAR ACCOMMODATION

Berths for yourself and seven guests (separate from the crew's accommodation) are appointed with comforts you would never expect on a vessel so fast.

VELOCITY

Vessels this large are automatically labelled superyachts. However, the Murcielago is super in every sense.

Its opulence can make you forget that this vessel can cover vast distances between destinations in less time than you would believe.

Should you have an important deadline to meet (like getting from lunch in Miami to dinner in The Bahamas), its three 2000 horsepower diesels and our dedicated captain and crew, can take you there at a breathtaking 47 knots (87kph).

We're talking an incredible 163 nautical miles in just two and a half hours.

Otherwise it can comfortably devour 400 miles of seaway (its average range) at its cruising speed of 26 knots. Or you can extend that range to 1200 miles by gently motoring overnight to arrive at your destination first thing.

And when the engines finally subside to a throaty gurgle, there's no need to slow down.

The Williamson jet tender, kept inside the stern

'garage', is capable of a mind-boggling 45 knots. (It will also cruise at 4 knots should you decide to go ashore at Monte Carlo to catch the Grand Prix at 285 kph.)

The two Seadoo jetskis are also capable of 45 knots, meaning every other toy on board, like the wakeboard, kneeboard and water skis are built for speed too.

Yet incredibly, none are quite as fast as the superyacht that carries them.

PRIVATE LEAR JET OF THE SEA

A Sunseeker 100, the Murcielago is one of the fastest vessels afloat, allowing you to visit several countries in one trip. Just remember to bring your passport.
